

Theme for World Water Day 2012

Every year the World Water Day is held on 22 March and the theme of the forthcoming WWD is “Water and Food Security”. During this event, the international water community across the globe will focus major attention on the crucial link between water and agriculture.

Given the global importance of this event, the CWA seizes this opportunity to draw the urgent attention of the public on vital water issues. In fact, the CWA and its Parent Ministry (Ministry of Energy and Public Utilities) are planning a series of activities to mark the World Water Day in Mauritius.

Activities To Mark the Event

To mark the World Water Day 2010 a high-decibel programme a series of activities have been identified and these include:

- Organisation of a workshop and an exhibition at Rajiv Gandhi Science Centre, B. Village on 20, 21 and 22 March 2012
- Conducting of guided visits at CWA water treatment plants (La Marie etc)
- Two competitions targeted to upper primary and secondary students
- Press and media reportage
