

World Environment Day

2009

Like every year, the World Environment Day is celebrated on the 5 June. The theme chosen this year by the United Nations Environment Programme, which coordinates the day on behalf of the UN system and peoples of the world is 'Your Planet Needs You - UNite to Combat Climate Change'. This theme has been chosen as it reflects the urgency for nations to reach a new agreement during the forthcoming Climate Change meeting in Copenhagen.

To celebrate this global environmental event, the Ministry of Environment and National Development Unit has organized a series of activities. The public is encouraged to do some good environmental actions daily so as to make our country and the planet cleaner and greener.
